

Durham Local Government UNISON Bulletin

5 September 2017

Schools Edition

The new term is starting and although we hope you have had a restful summer holiday, we appreciate that UNISON Teaching Assistants will have still been thinking about the need to resolve the dispute.

The consultative ballot represented a rejection of the Council's latest offer by the majority of UNISON members. UNISON has had further meetings with the Council following the result. We have also continued to meet with UNISON Teaching Assistants over the summer.

As soon as we have more detailed information we will share this with you. In the meantime, we will start to arrange school visits towards the end of September, so we have an opportunity to discuss developments with you.

Once again, thanks to your action, negotiations are continuing. UNISON remain committed to supporting Teaching Assistants through this challenging time.
